Preface

The Mottistone papers were deposited in the library of Nuffield College, Oxford by the 4th Baron Mottistone in 1970. Additional papers were deposited in March 1975.

The papers have been divided into six main classes: general correspondence, political papers, official papers, military papers, literary papers and press cuttings. Where necessary, an introductory note can be found at the beginning of each class. Within these classes, the papers are in chronological order; undated material is at the front of each series whilst partly dated material at the front of the period to which it probably belongs e.g. a letter dated 18 April which, from internal evidence, was written between 1932 and 1937 would be found at 18 April 1932. Files on particular topics have been put at the date of the earliest material in the file. Where there are several letters of the same date, e.g. congratulations on entering a new office, the letters have been arranged in alphabetical order.

A personal name index can be found at the end of the handlist.

Introduction

John Edward Bernard Seely was born on 31 May 1868, the 4th son of Sir Charles Seely, 1st baronet and his wife Emily. He first married Emily Florence Crichton by whom he had 3 sons and 4 daughters. She died in 1913. In 1917 he married the Honourable Evelyn Izmé Murray, daughter of Viscount Elibank and widow of Captain G.C.N. Nicholson.

He was educated at Harrow and Trinity, Cambridge and called to the bar by the Inner Temple in 1897. He spent 18 months fighting in the Boer War, during which he earned the Distinguished Service Order. It was whilst he was in South Africa that he was elected as Conservative M.P. for the Isle of Wight (1900-1904). In 1904 he became a Liberal but was still returned as M.P. for the Isle of Wight. From 1906 to 1910 he was Liberal M.P. for Liverpool Abercromby, from 1910 to 1922 for Ilkeston, Derbyshire and from 1923 to 1924 for the Isle of Wight. From April 12th 1908 to March 23rd 1911 he was Under-Secretary of State at the Colonial Office, serving under Lord Crewe and Lewis Harcourt. From March 23rd 1911 to June 12th 1912 he was Under-Secretary of State at the War Office, serving under R.B. Haldane whom he replaced from June 6th 1912 until March 30th 1914 when he was forced to resign over the Curragh issue. He served in various capacities during the First World War ending as Commander of the Canadian Cavalry Brigade. From June 18th 1918 to January 1st 1919 he was Parliamentary Under-Secretary to the Minister of Munitions (W.S. Churchill) and from January 1st 1919 to December 22nd 1919 he was Under-Secretary of State for Air. He resigned over Lloyd George's failure to set up a separate Air Force, detached from both the Army and the Navy. He was Chairman of the National Savings Committee from 1926 to 1943. In 1933 he was created Baron Mottistone. He died on November 7th 1947.

I. General Correspondence

There is a single series of correspondence from which only correspondence on official business has been separated and placed in chronological order amongst J.S.'s official papers, a line which has had to be somewhat arbitrarily drawn on occasions. There are also a few pages of rough notes, kept with explanatory letters.

Much of the correspondence was weeded by J.S.'s second wife; she seems generally to have kept those letters with interesting i.e. famous signatures, although there is some evidence that by the 1940s J.S. himself had divided his correspondence between a 'prominent persons file' and ordinary correspondence.

Index

This index consists of personal names only. No distinction has been made between letters to or from an individual. If a letter has been written on the paper of an institution or other organisation, both the writer and the institution/organisation have been given entries. Private Secretaries have been given their own entries with a cross-reference from their employer. Hyphenated names are indexed under the name following the hyphen; names beginning with 'de' and 'von' are indexed under 'de' and 'von'. Peers are indexed under their family name with a cross-reference from their titles. Men who became peers after the date of their entry do not have this cross-reference; they are indexed solely under their family name. Each entry is in chronological order; the underlined number is the box number, the number(s) following that are the folio number(s). A '?' in front of a name or date indicates some doubt in deciphering. Where Christian names are not given, they have either not been discovered or they cannot be given with any certainty of identification.
