PRIVACY NOTICE

Students, Visiting Students and Applicants who have Accepted Offers

This privacy notice, which has been drawn up in consultation with Mills & Reeve LLP, applies to current students of Nuffield College and to applicants for graduate study who have accepted the offer of a place at Nuffield College.

Separate Privacy Notices are available on the College website which provide information about how we process data for applicants for graduate study, staff, alumni, and for financial, commercial, archiving, or IT purposes. It is important that you read this Privacy Notice in conjunction with the others listed above.

A summary of what this notice explains

Nuffield College (“we”; “the College”) is committed to protecting the privacy and security of personal data.

This notice and its accompanying Record of Processing Activities\(^1\) explains what personal data the College holds about you, how we use it internally, how we share it, how long we keep it and what your legal rights are in relation to it.

For the parts of your personal data that you supply to us, this notice also explains the basis on which you are required or requested to provide the information. For the parts of your personal data that we generate about you, or that we receive from others, it explains the source of the data.

There are some instances where we process your personal data on the basis of your consent. This notice sets out the categories and purposes we use your data for where your consent is needed.

What is your personal data and how does the law regulate our use of it?

“Personal data” is information relating to you as a living, identifiable individual. We refer to this as “your data”. It can include information such as your name, contact details, education history and other information about you that we may process.

“Processing” your data includes various operations that may be carried out on your data, including collecting, recording, organising, using, disclosing, storing and deleting it.

Data protection law requires us:

- to process your data in a lawful, fair and transparent way;

\(^1\) https://www.nuffield.ox.ac.uk/media/3060/ropa-student-data_v01.pdf
• to only collect your data for explicit and legitimate purposes;
• to only collect data that is relevant, and limited to the purpose(s) we have told you about;
• to ensure that your data is accurate and up to date;
• to ensure that your data is only kept as long as necessary for the purpose(s) we have told you about;
• to ensure that appropriate security measures are used to protect your data.

Data that you provide to us and the possible consequences of you not providing it

The provision of most data that you provide to us is a contractual requirement. If you do not provide us with information that you are contractually obliged to provide, the consequences will depend on the particular circumstances. In some cases we may not be able to provide you with certain services; in other cases, this could have implications for your continued status as a student of the College.

Other sources of your data

Apart from the data that you provide to us, we may also process data about you from a range of sources. These include:

• data that we and our staff generate about you, such as in connection with your attendance, welfare, academic progress and accommodation at Nuffield College;
• the University of Oxford, which operates a number of systems that colleges have access to, including access your examination results, fees outstanding, degree ceremony bookings, emergency contact details, student loan status, “right to work” checks and visa information, disability information and reports by supervisors;
• your school or previous educational establishments or employers if they provide references to us;
fellow students, family members, friends, visitors to the College, and other contacts who may provide us with information about you if and when they contact us, or vice versa.

The lawful basis on which we process your data

The law requires that we provide you with information about the lawful basis on which we process your personal data, and for what purposes.

Most commonly, we will process your data on the following lawful grounds:

- where it is necessary to perform the contract we have entered into with you;
- where it is necessary for the performance of a task in the public interest;
- where it is necessary to comply with a legal obligation;
- where it is necessary for our legitimate interests (or those of a third party) and your interests and fundamental rights do not override those interests.

We may also use your data, typically in an emergency, where this is necessary to protect your vital interests, or someone else’s vital interests. In a small number of cases where other lawful bases do not apply, we will process your data on the basis of your consent.

How we apply further protection in the case of “Special Categories” of personal data

“Special categories” of particularly sensitive personal data require higher levels of protection. We need to have further justification for collecting, storing and using this type of personal data.

The Special Categories of personal data consist of data revealing:

- racial or ethnic origin;
- political opinions;
- religious or philosophical beliefs;
- trade union membership.

They also consist of the processing of:

- genetic data;
- biometric data for the purpose of uniquely identifying someone;
- data concerning health;
- data concerning someone’s sex life or sexual orientation.

We may process special categories of personal data in the following circumstances:

- With your explicit written consent; or
- Where it is necessary in the substantial public interest, in particular:
is necessary for the purposes of the prevention or detection of an unlawful act, must be carried out without the consent of the data subject so as not to prejudice those purposes; or

- for equal opportunities monitoring;

- Where the processing is necessary for archiving purposes in the public interest, or for scientific or historical research purposes, or statistical purposes, subject to further safeguards for your fundamental rights and interests specified in law.

Less commonly, we may process this type of data where it is needed in relation to legal claims or where it is needed to protect your interests (or someone else's interests) and you are not capable of giving your consent, or where you have already made the data public.

Criminal convictions and allegations of criminal activity

Further legal controls apply to data relating to criminal convictions and allegations of criminal activity. We may process such data on the same grounds as those identified for “special categories” referred to above.

Details of our processing activities, including our lawful basis for processing

We have prepared a Record of Processing Activities which sets out in detail the processing activities that we undertake, the source of the data, the reasons why we process it, how long we keep it, and the lawful basis we rely on. This includes information related to the course you are studying and your academic progress, the operation of your student contract, the materials you provided as part of your application for a place at the College; and any information which you have provided to us voluntarily (such as about any disabilities or health conditions). It also includes data we are required by law to collect (such as your immigration status).

How we share your data

We will not sell your data to third parties. We will only share it with third parties if we are allowed or required to do so by law. This includes for example:

- where we are required to report information about students that are subject to visa controls to UK Visas and Immigration;
- where we are required to report information to the University of Oxford in order for it to fulfil its obligations to report information to the Higher Education Statistics Agency or its successor body in order to comply with regulatory obligations;
- where it would be appropriate to do so under the College’s Guidelines on Confidentiality in Student Health and Welfare;
- where we decide to report alleged criminal misconduct to the police.

3 https://www.nuffield.ox.ac.uk/media/1477/guidelines-on-confidentiality.pdf
It also includes disclosures where the third party is an agent or service provider appointed by the College to enable us to operate effectively, provided we are satisfied that appropriate safeguards have been put in place to ensure adequate levels of security for your data. All our third party service providers are required to take appropriate security measures to protect your personal information in line with our policies, and are only permitted to process your personal data for specific purposes in accordance with our instructions. We do not allow our third party providers to use your personal data for their own purposes.

We have prepared a Data Sharing Table⁴ which provides more information on the categories of recipients of your data.

Automated decision-making

We do not envisage that any decisions will be taken about you based solely on automated means, however we will notify you in writing if this position changes.

Sharing your data outside the European Union

The law provides various further safeguards where data is transferred outside of the EU. When you are resident outside the EU in a country where there is no “adequacy decision” by the European Commission, and an alternative safeguard is not available, we may still transfer data to you which is necessary for performance of your contract with us, or to take pre-contractual measures at your request.

We may transfer your data outside the European Union, but only for the purposes referred to in this notice and provided either:

- There is a decision of the European Commission that the level of protection of personal data in the recipient country is adequate; or
- Appropriate safeguards are in place to ensure that your data is treated in accordance with UK data protection law, for example through the use of standard contractual clauses; or
- There is an applicable derogation in law which permits the transfer in the absence of an adequacy decision or an appropriate safeguard.

How long we keep your data

The detailed Record of Processing Activities⁵ explains how long we will keep your data. In some cases, student data is retained permanently for archiving and/or research purposes, as explained in that table. The College’s Privacy Notice relating to its archives⁶ has further detail about the information retained in the archive and your rights when data is archived.

Please note that we may keep anonymised statistical data indefinitely, but you cannot be identified from such data.

Your legal rights over your data

Subject to certain conditions set out in UK data protection law, you have:

- The right to request access to a copy of your data, as well as to be informed of various information about how your data is being used.
- The right to have any inaccuracies in your data corrected, which may include the right to have any incomplete data completed.
- The right to have your personal data erased in certain circumstances.
- The right to have the processing of your data suspended, for example if you want us to establish the accuracy of the data we are processing.
- The right to receive a copy of data you have provided to us, and have that transmitted to another data controller (for example, another University or College).
- The right to object to any direct marketing (for example, email marketing or phone calls) by us, and to require us to stop such marketing.
- The right to object to the processing of your information if we are relying on a “legitimate interest” for the processing or where the processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest. The lawful basis for any particular processing activity we carry out is set out in our detailed Records of Processing Activities.
- The right to object to any automated decision-making about you which produces legal effects or otherwise significantly affects you.
- Where the lawful basis for processing your data is consent, you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. When you tell us you wish to exercise your right, we will stop further processing of such data. This will not affect the validity of any lawful processing of your data up until the time when you withdrew your consent. You may withdraw your consent by contacting us via the contact details set out above.

Further guidance on your rights is available from the Information Commissioner’s Office (https://ico.org.uk/). You may also wish to contact the College’s Data Protection Officer (bursar@nuffield.ox.ac.uk) if you are considering how or whether to exercise your rights.

You have the right to complain to the UK’s supervisory office for data protection, the Information Commissioner’s Office if you believe that your data has been processed unlawfully.

Future changes to this privacy notice, and previous versions

We may need to update this notice from time to time, for example if the law or regulatory requirements change, if technology changes, if the University makes changes to its procedures, or to make the College’s operations and procedures more efficient. If the change is material, we will endeavour to give you not less than two months’ notice of the change so that you can decide whether to exercise your rights, if appropriate, before the change comes into effect. We will normally notify you of the change by email and via the student intranet.

Past versions of this and other Privacy Notices can be accessed online.
